

THE MIST-COVERED MOUNTAINS OF HOME

By John Cameron, 1856. Played at the funeral of John F. Kennedy, 1963

Some new words by Lew Toulmin, 2021; Chords for bari uke; Strum: waltz DUU, or DUDU

OPENING:

[Am] Hey, ro.... [G] Ho, ro....[C] Hey, ro, [G] soon will I [C] see them,
the [G] mist-covered mountains of [Am] home

[Am] Soon I will gaze on the mountains again
[G] and the field and the valley and the wood and the glen
[C] and the clans of [G] courage [C] beyond human [G] ken
[Am] In the haunts of the [G] deer I shall [Am] roam!

CHORUS:

[Am] And hey, ro, soon will I see them
[G] O! Ho ro, see them, O see them
[C] O! Hey ro [G] soon shall I [C] see them
The [G] mist-covered mountains of [Am] home

[Am] A platter of haggis and the finest of ale
[G] A fire on the hearth and the pipes that do wail
[C] Are wait- [G] ing for me as [C] long as I [G] sail
[Am] No matter how [G] far I may [Am] roam.

CHORUS

[Am] Hail to the mountains with the summits of blue,
[G] To the glens with their meadows of sunshine and dew.
[C] To the women and [G] men ever [C] constant and [G] true,
[Am] Ever ready to [G] welcome one [Am] home.

CHORUS

[Am] There I will visit the place of my birth
[G] And they'll give me a welcome -- the warmest on earth
[C] All so loving and [G] kind, full of [C] music and [G] mirth
[Am] In the sweet sounding [G] language of [Am] home
