

Khayton, the Killer of Deer vs. Llywelyn Morgan Duggar

By Percy French, 1887, re the Russo-Turkish War, as "Abdul Abubul Amir"

Rewritten in 2019 by Llewellyn Morgan Toulmin, son of Mary Morgan Duggar Toulmin

"Khayton" is a variation of Chayton, a Native American name meaning falcon

The Indians of old, were valiant and bold
And quite unaccustomed to fear,
But the bravest all, or so I am told,
Was Khayton, the Killer of Deer.

If you needed a man, to head a bold band,
Or harass the foe from the rear,
Storm fort or redoubt, they were sure to call out,
For Khayton, the Killer of Deer.

There are heroes a-plenty and well known to fame
As we know from the D of AR,
But the bravest of all, was a Captain by name,
Of Llywelyn Morgan Duggar.

He could recite the bards, tell fortunes by cards, Play on the Spanish guitar! In fact quite the cream of the Henrico Guards,
Was Llywelyn Morgan Duggar.

One day this bold Welshman shouldered his gun
Put on his most cynical sneer,
And was looking for fun,
when he happened to run,
Into Khayton, the Killer of Deer.

"Young man," said Khayton, "is existence so dull,
That you're anxious to end your career?
So now white man know, that you've trod on the toe,
Of Khayton, the Killer of Deer!"

"Yes, take your last look at the sun and the brook,
Say farewell to your ladies afar,
By this I imply -- you're going to die!
Poor Llywelyn Morgan Duggar."

Spoke this bold brave, "You nasty knave!"
And praying, "Oh Great Spirit, my star"
With murderous intent, he ferociously went
For Llywelyn Morgan Duggar.

But our bold Captain said, "Oh do tell?"
"You think you can have me show fear?"
"I'm afraid, red man, you're going to Hell!"
"And no-one is weeping a tear."

They parried, they thrust, they side-stepped,
they cussed,
Of blood they spilled quite a lot.
The philologist blokes, who seldom make jokes,
Say that hash was first made on that spot.

They fought all that night 'neath the pale yellow moon, and the crowds, they came from afar,
so great was the fame, of the men by the name,
Of Khayton, and Llywelyn Duggar.

Then Khayton's long knife, it took Duggar's life,
But as the Injun was shouting, "Huzzah!"
He felt himself struck by a last stroke of luck,
By Llywelyn Morgan Duggar.

The Governor came by in his four-horsed fly,
To share with his Captain, a cigar,
But as he drew nigh, he heard the last sigh,
Of Llywelyn Morgan Duggar.

A splash in the James, later that night
Caused ripples to spread far and near,
It was made by a sack, fitting close to the back,
Of Khayton, the Killer of Deer.

There lieth a stone, where the James River rolls,
And on it in letters bizarre,
are: "Stranger, passing by, pray for the soul,
of Llywelyn Morgan Duggar."

A virgin of Virginia, her vigil doth keep,
'Neath the light of the cold northern star,
And the name that she murmurs so sadly in sleep,
Is Llywelyn Morgan Duggar.